Dedication

Dear Mr. Connolly,

The members of the ORBIT staff and the Class of 1971 proudly dedicate this yearbook to you.

In your math classes you provided us with insights into the land of "X." The personal attention you gave us throughout the year was certainly appreciated on the day of the dreaded Regents.

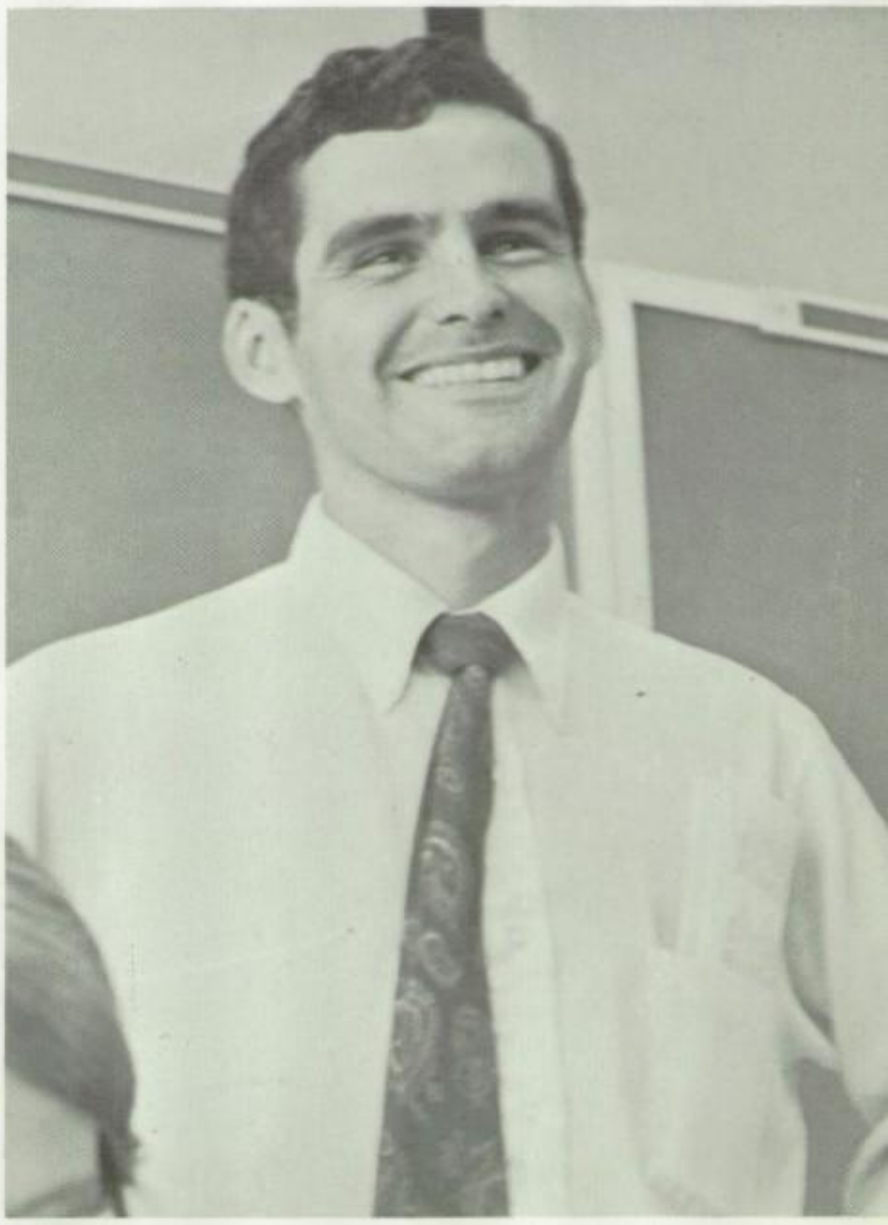
As one of our Junior Class advisers, you helped us with our magazine sales, a job that required all your skill as a math teacher.

During our years at QHS, you have served as the shining torch of Spartanism. You have led our cross-country and track teams to continuous victories and illustrious honors.

Without you, Queensbury would definitely be "BUSH."

Sincerely,

ORBIT Staff
Class of 1971



Kindly Mrs. White,

It is with deep gratitude and eternal appreciation that we pay this tribute to you. As our friendly neighborhood librarian, you have never hesitated to offer your assistance to any student. Without your perseverance, this yearbook never would have been published.

Student Council

When the time came for the Student Council to take a hand in more than the regular extra-curricular activities, the 1970-71 officers responded with a flair not witnessed in quite a while and unlikely to be equaled for some time.

The first Student Council to take an active part in community affairs, this year's council risked embarrassing failure on its Red Cross Blood Drive. Student apathy, a pitfall common to past councils, was bypassed, and the student body pulled through for success with 147 pints of blood.

As a reward for their efforts the students were treated to a special assembly. This was also a first. The silent movies turned out to be a success and laughter (unrehearsed and unfaked) was the proof.

Following the example of this year's council, future councils should prove a dynamic force in effecting change.

Football - A Summary

By the looks of our record (0 wins and 7 losses) we lost everything and gained nothing, but that's not the way it was. For the twenty varsity players, it was a totally new experience in football under their new head coach, Dick Kleinhammer. Conditioning was tough in the beginning and the offensive plays were run again and again, but this is not where the team learned the most. It was in the locker room talks before practices and before the games that our new coach really formed our football team.

Graduation will take away only four players, and those remaining plus a group of high-spirited J.V.'s will make Queensbury a contender.

TOP: Doug Rumpf's block will mean extra yardage for quarterback Tracy Nelson.

VARSITY: D. Dolan, D. Rumpf, B. Beckerle, A. Maillez, B. DeHoney, D. Cederstrom, B. Hickin, D. Ellingsworth, D. Jabaut, J. Miller, Coach Labonbard, C. Wilson, R. Briggs, T. Nelson, D. Harder, K. Martin, El Ainsworth, M. LePorin, J. Strain, C. Moogalian, G. Valastro, Coach Kleinhammer.

BELOW: An unsure tackle will be solified when Rick Briggs makes contact.

Jeff,
This year was the best season our class has ever had. Come out next year, it might be better than ever.

The Queensbury wrestlers, under Coach Jack LaBombard, have had an excellent season. With a 9-1 conference record, we tied Hudson Falls for first place in the Northern Conference. Overall, we won ten matches, including one shutout, and lost only three.

In the Glens Falls Tournament, we had three first place winners - Geoff Nestle, Dave Cederstrom, and Jim Strain. Steve and Dave Jabaut, Bill Welch, and Doug Rumpf were second, while Rick Irvine and Dave Dolan took third.

In the Queensbury Holiday Festival Bill Welch, Dave Dolan, and Brian Wilson took fourth place, and Dave Cederstrom were second, and Jim Strain and Geoff Nestle came in first. Geoff, the team's captain, the only senior on the squad, was voted outstanding wrestler of the tournament and also received the most pins trophy.

Queensbury produced three Northern Conference champions - Geoff Nestle, Dave Dolan, and Jim Strain. Pete Welch took second; Rick Irvin, third; and Dave Jabaut and Bill Welch took fourth.

In the Section II tournament, Queensbury came in third out of fifty-five schools in the section. Geoff Nestle became Queensbury's second Section II champion; Rick Irvine took second place; Jim Strain, fourth; and Dave Dolan and Pete Welch took fifth.

The team will lose only one man to graduation this year. With a strong Junior High and JV wrestling program, plus eleven returning varsity lettermen, Queensbury can look forward to even better season next year.

Spartan Spells Spirit!

The Spartans began the new season in Varsity basketball under the direction of Mr. Paul Sheehan, a former coach of Fort Edward.

The season began with a loss to St. Mary's, last year's co-champions, but the team rallied for their first win against Granville, 85 to 43. From there they travelled to Fort Edward where they picked up their second win by beating them in overtime, 66-64.

Also on the bill for the Spartans this year was their first conference win ever, against South High, 63-57. The Spartans did this by never letting South High out-score them in any quarter.

In the second half of the season, the Spartans suffered an 82-68 loss to Saratoga, but followed it up the next week with an 83-80 victory over Johnstown. This win marked a league upset and also the high point of the season for the Spartans.

Although the team lost the last four games, they felt they had gained much from the season and voted to participate in the sectionals at Troy.

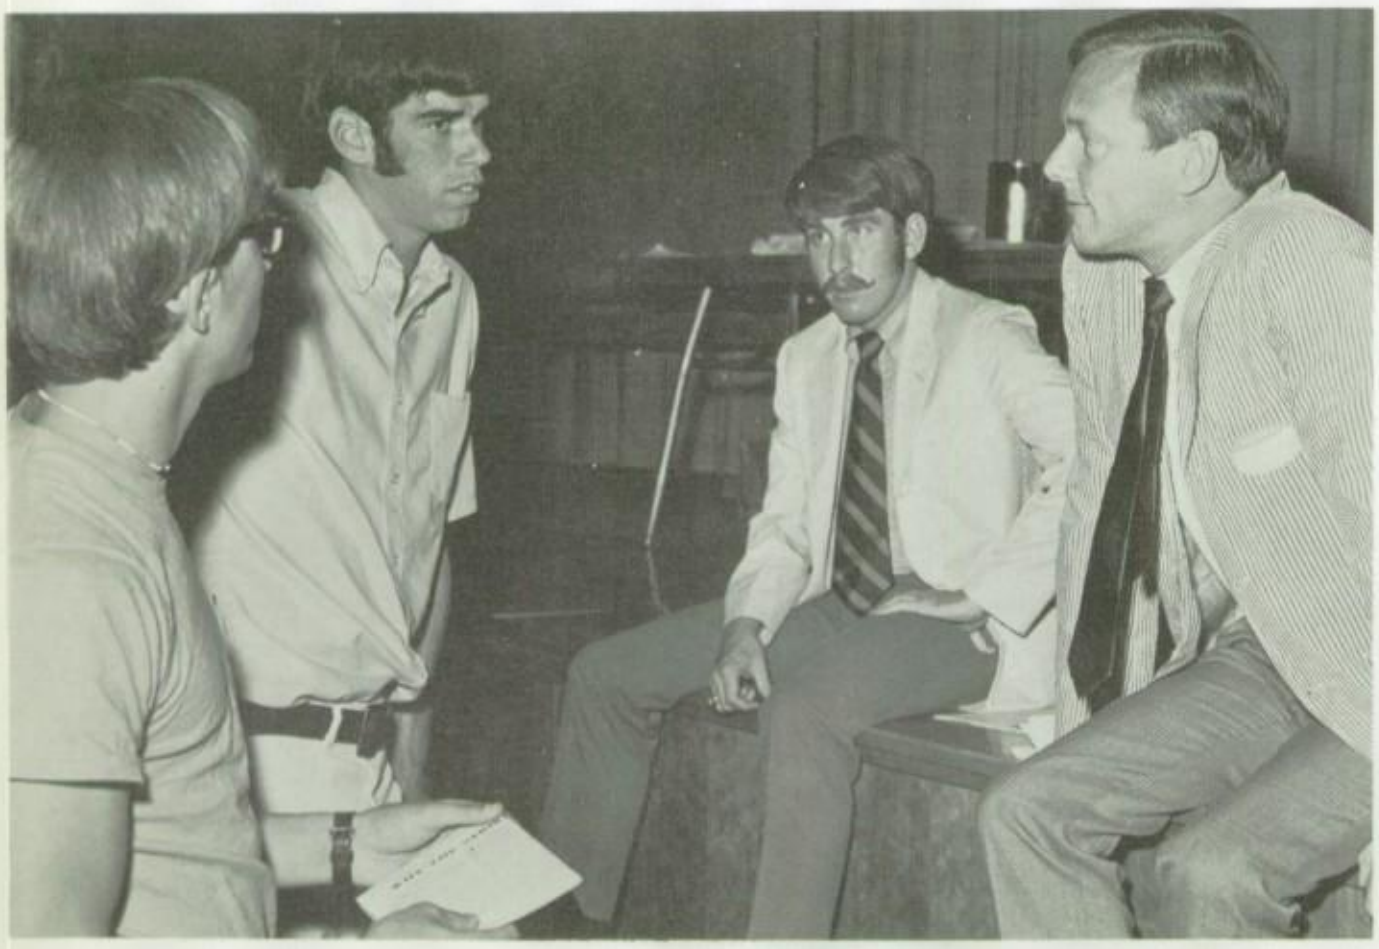
From Cambodia

To express their growing concern for conditions both here and abroad, Queensbury students became actively involved in community and world affairs this year.

From Cambodia and Kent, Ohio, the hand of violence reached out and gripped the nation. In answer both to the tragedy at Kent State and to the new war in Cambodia, Queensbury students last spring organized a Teach-in. The purpose - to inform students about the reasons for the war and explain the viewpoints of the people for and against the defense policies of the nation.

In the fall the KEY Club of Queensbury High School, an offshoot of Kiwanis Club, defied the national trend. Throughout the nation interest in service clubs, such as Rotary and Kiwanis, has been waning because of a lack of younger members. The salvation of such service clubs will be a great help to the nation if the newer trend exemplified by Queensbury KEY Club catches on.

In December the Student Council sponsored a blood drive. Although not internationally vital, the blood saved many lives in the local area - and life is of universal consequence.



Chuck Wilson and Josh Patrick join in a discussion with Mr. Thurston and his son following the Teach-in.

To Queensbury

From Bolivia

On August 26, 1970, Maria Eliana Aquino arrived in the United States from LaPaz, Bolivia. She is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Knoblock. Chichi, a Rotary Youth Exchange Student will remain in the United States until July 3, 1971. We enjoyed having Chichi with us, and hope she may return to our country in the near future.

TOP LEFT: Mr. Meaney and Maria discuss the importance of international events in their native countrys. LOWER LEFT: Albany State student Oshansky explains the peace movement to Mrs. VanDusen, at the teach-in. LOWER RIGHT: Panelists Reilly, Thurston, Pattison, and Flacke answer questions and lead a general discussion.
